Pre-Conference Teaching Institute:

Teaching Integrative Psychological Science
See page 87 for details.

Workshop

A Practical Introduction to Distributed Collaboration for Formal Modeling

Andy J. Wills, Department of Psychology, Plymouth University, United Kingdom

Making efficient progress in the formal modeling of mental processes requires a technological mechanism that supports distributed collaboration. This tutorial will teach you how to use such a mechanism. In a hands-on workshop, you’ll learn to add a replicated dataset of your choice to “catlearn” an archive for distributed collaboration in formal modeling. For your chosen dataset, you’ll also learn how to add documentation, and an automated model-adequacy test. You’ll then work toward a simulation of that dataset with a preexisting formal model. After-tutorial email support will be available to help you complete this last task (it should be possible to complete the other tasks during the session, but if not, you’ll get support for that after the session too).

For posters and full program details, use the ICPS app (search for “ICPS 2017” in the app store) or visit www.icps2017.org/program.
WORKSHOP

12:00 – 13:20 | Hall M1
(12:00 PM – 1:20 PM)

metaBUS: Leveraging One Million Published Findings to Conduct Instant Meta-Analyses

Frank A. Bosco, Department of Management, Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

This open workshop presents detail and live demonstrations of the metaBUS platform, a search and summary engine of more than 1,000,000 published correlation coefficients. Attendees will suggest topics for live, instant meta-analysis and openly discuss challenges and opportunities for applying similar scientific curation protocols across subfields of psychological science.

PRESENTERS:

Krista L. Uggerslev, Department of Leadership and Talent, Northern Alberta Institute of Technology, Canada

Piers Steel, Department of Organizational Behaviour and Human Resources, University of Calgary, Canada

Sven Kepes, Department of Management, Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

James G. Field, Department of Management, Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

13:30 – 14:50 | Room 0.32-31
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

Methodological Issues in Using Economic Games to Study Human Sociality

Chair: Michael E. McCullough, University of Miami, USA

PRESENTATIONS:

Maxwell N. Burton-Chellew, University of Oxford, United Kingdom

William H.B. McAuliffe, University of Miami, USA

Michael E. McCullough, University of Miami, USA

Daniel E. Forster, University of Miami, USA

13:30 – 14:50 | Hall M1
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

Spatial Attention in Complex Environments: Behavioral and Neuroimaging Approaches

Emiliano Macaluso, Impact Team, Lyon Neuroscience Research Center, France

It is appealing to investigate brain functions in naturalistic conditions, but it entails many methodological constraints. Here, I will present several approaches that we developed with the aim of tracking the role of top-down and bottom-up signals for the control of spatial orienting in complex and dynamic environments. These approaches involve using computational modeling to analyze the sensory aspects of the stimuli, eye-movement data to track the selection of locations and objects, and novel data-driven analysis methods to extract relevant patterns of brain activity without any a priori knowledge about the stimulus content.

For posters and full program details, use the ICPS app (search for “ICPS 2017” in the app store) or visit www.icps2017.org/program.
13:30 – 14:50 | Room 0.51
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

Whence Atheism? Beliefs, Reasons, and Control in Nonbelief

CO-CHAIR: Thomas J. Coleman, III, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, USA

CO-CHAIR: Valerie Van Mulukom, Coventry University, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Valerie Van Mulukom, Coventry University, United Kingdom
Nick Stauner, Case Western Reserve University, USA
Filip Uzarevic, Université Catholique De Louvain, Belgium
Thomas J. Coleman, III, University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, USA

13:30 – 14:50 | Hall N2
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

Exploring Perspective Broadening and Its Influence on Vulnerability to Depression

CHAIR: Stephanie Rude, The University of Texas at Austin, USA

PRESENTATIONS:
Morgynn L. Haner, The University of Texas at Austin, USA
Crystal Lantrip, Baylor Scott & White Neuroscience Institute, USA
Brooks Harbison, University of Kentucky at Louisville, USA

DISCUSSANT: Joe R. Grasso, San Francisco VA Medical Center and University of California, San Francisco, USA

13:30 – 14:50 | Room 1.61
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

What Is the Magic Experience?

CO-CHAIR: Christine Mohr, Université de Lausanne, Switzerland

CO-CHAIR: Gustav Kuhn, Goldsmiths, University of London, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Jason Leddington, Bucknell University, USA
Hugo Caffaratti, University of Leicester, United Kingdom
Gustav Kuhn, Goldsmiths, University of London, United Kingdom
Cyril Thomas, University of Franche-Comté, France

13:30 – 14:50 | Room 1.62
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

How Domain-General Are Domain-General Mechanisms?

CHAIR: Ansgar D. Endress, City, University of London, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Ram Frost, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel
Juan-Manuel Toro, Universitat Pompeu Fabra, Spain
Ansgar D. Endress, City, University of London, United Kingdom

13:30 – 14:50 | Room 1.86
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

From Bliss to Abyss: Interdisciplinary Perspective on Unusual Meditative Experiences

CO-CHAIR: Masoumeh Rahmani, University of Otago, New Zealand

CO-CHAIR: Miguel Farias, Coventry University, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Miguel Farias, Coventry University, United Kingdom
Masoumeh Rahmani, University of Otago, New Zealand
Tim Lomas, University of East London, United Kingdom
Ivana Buric, Coventry University, United Kingdom

13:30 – 14:50 | Room 1.85
(1:30 PM – 2:50 PM)

Cognition in Context: Social Networks and Social Cognition in Adolescence

CO-CHAIR: Nikki C. Lee, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands

CO-CHAIR: Lydia Krabbendam, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands

PRESENTATIONS:
Reubs J. Walsh, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands
David Pollard, University of Birmingham, United Kingdom
Miriam Hollarek, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Jin He, Erasmus University Rotterdam, The Netherlands

SPONSORED EVENT

14:00 – 15:50 | Hall N1 (2:00 PM – 3:50 PM)

Using Inquisit 5 for Online and Mobile Psychological Research

Sean Draine, Millisecond, USA

Inquisit 5 is a mature, powerful, easy-to-use platform for gathering psychological data in the lab, over the Web, and on mobile devices. In this workshop, we’ll demonstrate tools for creating custom, high-precision psychological tests that can be administered online and that adapt to the various form factors of modern connected devices. We’ll also cover new features like animation, drag and drop, drawing, and more. Come and see how Inquisit can “mobilize” your research. This event is open to all ICPS attendees.

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 0.51 (3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Depends on Your Frame of Mind: The Wide-Ranging Effects of Framing on Judgments, Decisions, and Behaviors

CHAIR: Alice Moon, Disney Research, USA

PRESENTATIONS:
- Michael O’Donnell, Haas School of Business, USA
- Sandra Matz, University of Cambridge, United Kingdom
- Matthew Feinberg, Rotman School of Management, Canada

15:00 – 16:20 | Hall L1 (3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Collective Behavior: New Advances From Zoology, Anthropology, and Mass Participation Experiments

CO-CHAIR: Daniel C. Richardson, University College London, United Kingdom
CO-CHAIR: Jorina von Zimmermann, University College London, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
- Robert Goldstone, Indiana University, USA
- Bronwyn Tarr, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
- Takao Sasaki, University of Oxford, United Kingdom
- Jorina von Zimmermann, University College London, United Kingdom

DISCUSSANT: Daniel C. Richardson, University College London, United Kingdom

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 0.32-31 (3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Autobiographical Memory in Depression: Images, Everyday Memories, and Important Events

CHAIR: Adriana del Palacio-Gonzalez, Aarhus University, Denmark

PRESENTATIONS:
- Julie A. Niziurski, Aarhus University, Denmark
- Adriana del Palacio-Gonzalez, Aarhus University, Denmark
- Lynn A. Watson, Aarhus University, Denmark

DISCUSSANT: Barbara Dritschel, University of St Andrews, United Kingdom

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 1.61 (3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Creativity: Its Nature and Correlates

CHAIR: Shulamith Kreitler, Tel-Aviv University, Israel

PRESENTATIONS:
- Giovanni E. Corazza, University of Bologna, Italy
- Eva Sollarova, Constantine the Philosopher University in Nitra, Slovakia
- Adva Margaliot, Achva Academic College, Israel
- Shulamith Kreitler, Tel-Aviv University, Israel

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 1.62 (3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Recent Advances in Our Understanding and Treatment of Headache and Migraine in Children and Adults

CHAIR: Paul R. Martin, Griffith University, Australia

PRESENTATIONS:
- Christian Wöber, Medical University of Vienna, Austria
- Allison M. Waters, Griffith University, Australia
- Frank Andrasik, University of Memphis, USA
- David Kavanagh, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

DISCUSSANT: Paul R. Martin, Griffith University, Australia

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 1.85
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Conceptual and Empirical Examinations of Interpersonal Emotion Dynamics

CO-CHAIR: Jonathan E. Butner, University of Utah, USA
CO-CHAIR: Ashley K. Randall, Arizona State University, USA

PRESENTATIONS:
Ashley K. Randall, Arizona State University, USA
Jonathan E. Butner, University of Utah, USA
Darby Saxbe, University of Southern California, USA
Belinda Campos, University of California, Irvine, USA

DISCUSSANT: Dominik Schoebi, University of Fribourg, Switzerland

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 1.86
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Multidisciplinary Perspectives on Self-Control

CHAIR: Frederick Verbruggen, University of Exeter, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Ian P.L. McLaren, University of Exeter, United Kingdom
Esther Papies, University of Glasgow, United Kingdom
Marcel Brass, Ghent University, Belgium
Frederick Verbruggen, University of Exeter, United Kingdom

15:00 – 16:20 | Hall L8
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Characterizing the Nature of Naturalistic Emotional Experience, Expression, and Recognition

CHAIR: Oriana R. Aragón, Clemson University, USA

PRESENTATIONS:
José-Miguel Fernández-Dols, Universidad Autónoma de Madrid, Spain
Hillel Aviezer, The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel
Oriana R. Aragón, Clemson University, USA
James Russell, Boston College, USA

15:00 – 16:20 | Room 0.49
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Climate, Culture, and Human Behavior

CO-CHAIR: Paul A.M. Van Lange, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands
CO-CHAIR: Carsten K.W. De Dreu, Leiden University, The Netherlands

PRESENTATIONS:
Kimmo Eriksson, Mälardalen University, Sweden
Paul A.M. Van Lange, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Sander Van der Linden, University of Cambridge, United Kingdom
Carsten K.W. De Dreu, Leiden University, The Netherlands

15:00 – 16:20 | Hall N2
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Assessing the Efficacy and Feasibility of Emotional Expressiveness Interventions

CHAIR: Michael A. Smith, Northumbria University, United Kingdom

PRESENTATIONS:
Mark A. Wetherell, Northumbria University, United Kingdom
Richard Stephens, Keele University, United Kingdom
Catherine Loveday, University of Westminster, United Kingdom
Daryl B. O’Connor, University of Leeds, United Kingdom
Michael A. Smith, Northumbria University, United Kingdom

WORKSHOP
15:00 – 16:50 | Hall L4-L5
(3:00 PM – 4:50 PM)

Using Social Media to Promote Professional Development, Networking, Scientific Dissemination, and Public Awareness

CO-CHAIR: Teresa Bajo, Department of Experimental Psychology, Universidad de Granada, Spain
CO-CHAIR: Cristina Cacciari, Department of Biomedical, Metabolic and Neurological Sciences, Universita di Modena e Reggio Emilia, Italy

Social media has become integrated into many aspects of daily life. Websites, blogs, and YouTube are used to communicate information, keep in touch with people, and create social networks. Similarly, scientists are increasingly using social media to share new articles, discuss scientific opinions, and circulate information about professional opportunities and scientific events. Social media networks can be beneficial for scientists by offering powerful tools to boost their professional profiles, and increase the visibility of their science.

In this workshop organized by Women in Cognitive Science, an international panel of senior and junior researchers will discuss best practices for using social media toward different scientific and professional goals. In different presentations, panelists will focus on the use of blogs, tweets, websites and internet platforms for scientific dissemination, increased visibility of personal scientific profiles, networking, fundraising and increasing public awareness and understanding of a scientific topic. Panel presentations will be followed by open discussion with the audience.

PRESENTATIONS:

To Blog or Not to Blog, That Is the Question
Lorenza S. Colzato, Department of Psychology, University of Leiden, The Netherlands

Social Media as a Networking Tool
Daniel Lakens, Department of Psychology, Eindhoven University of Technology, The Netherlands

Jekyll and Hyde: Science Blogs Versus Blog ‘Science’
Stephan Lewandowsky, Department of Psychology, University of Bristol, United Kingdom

Using Social Media for Research: From Recruitment to Crowdsourcing
Gabriella Vigliocco, Deafness, Cognition and Language Research Centre, University College London, United Kingdom

The Boundaries of Your Online Identity
Angelique Cramer, Psychological Methods Group, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Enhancing the Public Understanding of Bilingualism Through Social Media: The Bilingualism Matters Experience
Antonella Sorace, School of Philosophy, Psychology and Language Sciences, The University of Edinburgh, United Kingdom

Speed Mentoring Session
17:00 – 17:50 | Crystal Lounge
(5:00 PM – 5:50 PM)

CO-CHAIR: Teresa Bajo, Department of Experimental Psychology, Universidad de Granada, Spain
CO-CHAIR: Cristina Cacciari, Department of Biomedical, Metabolic and Neurological Sciences, Universita di Modena e Reggio Emilia, Italy

This program will link junior researchers with senior faculty to meet for 20 minutes. Mentees and mentors will be linked on the basis of their area of research and institution. The timing will allow a maximum of two mentor-mentee sessions. This session will include an APS-sponsored coffee break.

For posters and full program details, use the ICPS app (search for “ICPS 2017” in the app store) or visit www.icps2017.org/program.
WORKSHOP
15:00 – 16:20 | Hall M1
(3:00 PM – 4:20 PM)

Social and Cognitive Dynamics With Natural Data

Rick Dale
Department of Cognition & Information Sciences,
University of California, Merced, USA

Cognitive process models can make predictions about data that can be harvested online, despite the often static nature of these data. I will discuss some strategies for tapping into cognitive and social dynamics using large natural data sets and discuss how these data sets may provide a unique opportunity to both test and expand theory. I will focus on data related to language and communication and will offer some materials that attendees can use in their own research, focusing on the application of R for acquisition and analysis.

16:30 – 17:50 | Room 0.32-31
(4:30 PM – 5:50 PM)

Automatic Attention for Reward: Novel Insights From Cognitive and Clinical Research

CO-CHAIR: Bram Van Bockstaele, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

CO-CHAIR: Helen Tibboel, Erasmus University Rotterdam, The Netherlands

PRESENTATIONS:
Marilisa Boffo, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Bram Van Bockstaele, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Adriaan Spruyt, Ghent University, Belgium

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

19:00 – 20:00 | Hall E
(7:00 PM – 8:00 PM)

Cognitive Evolution: People Are Animals Too
W. Tecumseh Fitch
Department of Cognitive Biology, University of Vienna, Austria

Because many key aspects of human cognition evolved in ancestral vertebrates, mammals, and primates, research on animal cognition can provide rich insights into the human mind. An evolutionary research program using broad comparisons among many species recognizes our cognitive kinship with other animals and provides a deeper understanding of cognitive evolution.

Poster Session I

20:00 – 20:50 | ICPS Exhibit Hall
(8:00 PM – 8:50 PM)

POSTER SETUP: 18:50 (6:50 PM) NOTE: This poster session will begin immediately following the conclusion of the Keynote Address.
See the “ICPS 2017” mobile app or online program for poster session details: www.icps2017.org/program.

Opening Reception

20:00 – 21:30 | ICPS Exhibit Hall
(8:00 PM – 9:30 PM)

The ICPS Thursday Night Reception is a wonderful opportunity to connect with colleagues and network for tomorrow’s opportunities. Light hors d’oeuvres will be served. The reception will begin immediately following the conclusion of the Keynote Address.

Internet Access

The Austria Center Vienna provides a free 100Mbit Wi-Fi connection. Access is simple, just connect to the network “ACV,” accept the Terms & Conditions in the browser and go. No password is required.
