

Royal Baby Name 'Charlotte' Makes Top 10 List

May 15, 2015

Live Science:

For the second year in a row, more parents have donned their boys with the name Noah than any other name, the Social Security Administration announced this morning (May 8).

And Emma knocked Sophia from its pedestal as the most popular baby name for girls. Emma had been the second-most popular baby girl name the past two years. Noah was followed by Liam, and Emma by Olivia, for the second-most popular baby names of 2014.

Read the whole story: Live Science