

Beware of 'Neuromyths'

December 14, 2012

The Wall Street Journal:

No, you do not, in fact, use just 10% of your brain, and “learning styles” make no difference in the classroom. Psychology professor Christopher Chabris discusses these and other “neuromyths”

Read the whole story: The Wall Street Journal