

How to Live With the Pain of Loss, Without Going Numb

September 26, 2018

What is the best way to deal with a loss?

Loss is one of life's most excruciating emotions, because it involves pain that to some degree will never go away—what you have lost will never come back. Often, people try to suppress their feelings, or close themselves off to situations that could lead to loss again. That doesn't work.