

Jerome Kagan, Who Tied Temperament to Biology, Dies at 92

May 24, 2021

Prof. Jerome Kagan, a Harvard psychologist whose research into temperament found that shy infants often grow up to be anxious and fearful adults because of their biological nature as well as the way they were nurtured, died on May 10 in Chapel Hill, N.C. He was 92.

...