

The Pandemic-Fueled Feeling Called 'Languishing'; Elvis Costello's New Album

January 19, 2022

In a The New York Times op-ed, psychologist Adam Grant puts a name to that feeling borne out of the pandemic — showing up for life, but living without purpose and aim. Emory University sociologist Corey Keyes coined that feeling “languishing.” We discuss.

...