

What to Do If You Haven't Saved Enough for Retirement

February 24, 2011

CNBC:

In the race to retirement a surprising number of Americans are getting to the finish line and realizing they haven't saved enough. What's more surprising is the number of people who have saved ZERO.

One in four Baby Boomers have saved nothing for retirement and when you include their younger counterparts the number is even more startling: 34 percent of all adults have no retirement savings, according to a recent poll from Harris Interactive.

Read the whole story: CNBC