

Why are passionate women always compared to cats? Meow!

June 22, 2011

The Globe and Mail:

Earlier this month, someone who is not a cat meowed at Australian Minister of Finance Penny Wong. Wong had the floor during a heated debate among members of the Senate Economics Legislation Committee when a Tasmanian senator named David Bushby interrupted her with said animal sound. Wong, incredulous at what she'd heard, shot back: "The blokes are allowed to yell, but if a woman stands her ground, you want to make that kind of comment. It's sort of schoolyard politics, mate. It's just extraordinary."

Read more: The Globe and Mail