

Endowed Position Created for Chair of the Psychology Department

February 26, 2016

Lawrence Culp, Jr., chair of the College's Board of Visitors and Governors, is providing $2 million in endowment funding to support the chair of Washington College's Department of Psychology. Specifically, the gift will endow the Dr. Carol C. Culp Chair in Psychology in honor of his late mother. Recognizing the importance of leadership within the department, this endowed professorship will be held by the department chair.

Washington College's Department of Psychology provides curriculum, labs, internships, and programming in both clinical/counseling and behavioral neuroscience. Grounded in small classes that emphasize discussion and collaboration between students and faculty, the program encourages students to work alongside their teachers on topical research including the genetic causes of alcoholism, modern racism, the impact of learning disorders, and the behavioral consequence of head injury.
