

What Research Says About Humor in the Workplace

March 02, 2017

The Wall Street Journal:

The use of jokes and comedy affects how confident we appear, how productive and creative we are and even how much status we achieve. Brad Bitterly and Maurice Schweitzer of the Wharton School join us with details.

Read the whole story: The Wall Street Journal