

People Who Hold Extreme Attitudes Feel Superior in Their Beliefs Even for Trivial Issues

June 10, 2013

Katrina Jongman-Sereno, a 2013 APS Student Research Award recipient from Duke University, presented her work on “People Who Hold Extreme Attitudes Feel Superior in Their Beliefs Even for Trivial Issues” at the 25th APS Annual Convention in Washington, DC.