

Laurie Santos on What Makes the Human Mind So Special

June 12, 2017

Psychological scientist Laurie R. Santos of Yale University says that her cognitive experiments with monkeys and dogs suggests that humans' unique ability to understand others' mental states can, in many cases, actually cause us to confuse that thinking with our own. See her complete presentation at the 29th APS Annual Convention in Boston.