

Michael Smith Dances His PhD

September 29, 2011

If you're a PhD student with mad dancing skills, Science and TEDxBrussels have the contest for you. Dance Your PhD is again offering $1,000 for the best video. This example may provide just the inspiration you need to create your own masterpiece.

Michael Smith dances Guarding and Robbing Behavior in Social Insect.

According to Goldenberg, her dance and public wikis both utilize textuality, dialogue, and a participatory process. If you find Goldenberg's wiki dance intriguing, you may consider writing a wiki on your own area of expertise as part of APS's Wikipedia Initiative.
